Cover Your 6: Advanced Report Writing

Interactive Webinar

$80 per student

After the dust settles and the excitement is gone, all police officers know they must sit down and document what just happened. The writing of law enforcement officers is read by the media, attorneys, judges, politicians, and government executives. With exposure to liability increasing every day, it is more important than ever that officers and supervisors scrupulously document their observations and actions.

In this webinar, officers and supervisors will learn the core principles of exceptional report writing.

Specifically, students will learn how to:

- Write clear, concise and grammatically correct narratives
- Include and organize essential elements of the report
- Use descriptive language to ascribe meaning to electronic recordings of incidents
- Maximize technology to ease the report-writing burden
